WE NOMINATE

David Dodge, "general practitioner in the field of writing," whose travel books, novels and articles and stories stamp him as one of Princeton's most gifted and most delightful literary craftsmen. The author of the unorthodox The Poor Man's Guide to Europe, the first travel guide to hit national best-seller lists in almost two decades, Dodge this week, accompanied by his "partners," wife Elva and daughter Kendal, is once more off for Europe, for, as he states: "my pleasure is travel, my business is writing about travel and my avocation the construction of blood-and-thunder melodramas, usually with foreign backgrounds."

A five-dollar bet with his wife led Dodge, a 44-year old native of California and originally trained as a certified public accountant, to try his hand at hook-length writing. The family wager was simply that he could produce a better mystery than many he had read; the result was Death and Taxes, published in 1941 and now a strong possibility as a motion picture. Some five years later, after serving as a desk-bound naval officer, Dodge reversed one of the Armed Forces' most-used slogans by "leaving the Navy to see the world." He recalls: "I got out of uniform early in 1946 and the three of us left for Mexico minutes later."

The departure was the beginning of Dodge's literary career and the start of a six-year odyssey that spanned an estimated 100,000 miles and carried the Dodges through some 25 Latin-American and European nations. By foot, donkey cart, canoe, bus, motorbike, truck, river boat, plane, train, ocean liner, freighter and automobile, the Dodges "saw the world" and lived the experiences from which grew How Green Was My Father, The Crozy Glasspecker, 20,000 Leagues Behind the 8-Ball and How Lost Was My Weekend. They lived for two years in Guatemala, spent another two years in Peru, took a "family trip" down the Amazon and eventually headed for Europe, where they settled in France and took excursions through Europe, with occasional incursions that took them behind the Iron Curtain.

Through it all—before returning to this country to give trilingual Kendal her first opportunity to attend an American school—Dodge wrote as he traveled, meeting deadlines and accumulating the trunkload of material for The Poor Man's Guide. He continued to produce noteworthy fiction, including To Catch A Thief, that is soon to be filmed by Alfred Hitchcock, and the well-received The Lights of Skaro. Here in his Kingston Road home Dodge, whose works have now been translated into nearly a dozen languages, has been writing steadily for the past ten months, a minimum of five hours a day, six days a week, and has almost finished, on the threshold of still another junket, the first tourists' guide to Yugoslavia.

For emphasizing a personalized and yet practical approach to international relations by reminding others that "a man of decent manners who realizes he is a stranger in another man's country is cordially received wherever he goes;" for his excellent and entertaining handling of difficult literary assignments; for strengthening this community's long-cherished literary tradition; he is Town Topics' nominee for

Weather-wise. If you believe, as we did, that Princeton has been the victim of a cold, wet spring, there are no statistics to prove your point. Take May for example. Total rainfall was below normal.

Not much, it develops—just a couple of tenths of an inch less than the average of 3.48 inches for the month. But not nearly enough to justify the loud la-ments about too much water.

It wasn't cold, either. Normal temperatures of 61.8 were virtually sustained for the month. The net result not only leaves the man in the street without cause for justifiable complaint but has picture is strictly satisfactory.

A Milestone Is Reached. The Princeton Shopping Center, first a rumor, then a dream and now a reality, will open this Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. Hours during the first two days will be 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and 9 to 6 on Saturday.

It is on Saturday that the preview program will be held (from 9 to 6), offering a variety of entertainment, gifts to those inspecting the stores, clown and animal acts and other attractions.
(See Page 19 for further details.)
One estimate is that fair weather will help draw 20,000 persons to the North Harrison Street site for the occasion.

The center's formal opening will not take place until mid-August, when all tenants, including L. Bamberger & Co., will be ready to serve their customers.
Nine are open now, the largest of which is the super-market operated by the American Stores Co.
(See Pages 8 and 9 for advertisement of its opening.) Frederick Harris of Princeton (see Page 7) will offer numerous specials to mark the center's first weekend, while the Sun Ray Drug Company will open next week. A branch office will be operated in the center by University Laundry and Dry Cleaners, whose plant is at 30 Moore Street. Manager John
A. Archer heads the Merchants Association.

Parking space for 3,000 cars will be provided, with all shops opening on the centrally-located mall. Clearview Associates, which conceived and built the center, report that it is the only one east of the Mississippi that is fully air-conditioned.

The Princeton Bank and Trust Company will operate a branch in the center to provide complete banking facilities. It will be open for inspection this weekend and will open for business on Monday. Daily hours will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., with Friday evening hours 6 to 8.

George R. Cook, 3d, President, has announced that all services provided in the Nassau Street establishment will be offered at the branch, with Christmas and Thriftway Clubs added features.
Willis G. Nealey, Jr., formerly auditor at the main bank, will be manager, with the staff including Miss Barbara Caivano, Mrs.
Lucille G. Dawson, Mrs. Mildred
B. Dingle, Miss Bernice Harrison and Leslie J. Luck, Jr.

Fun at the Fete. At least ten residents of Princeton are hoping for temperatures well above normal on Saturday. Each of them has volunteered to be dropped into a large pool of water—repeatedly if their fellow Princetonians' aim is good.

The opportunity for hilarity will be offered at the Hospital
Fete, scheduled to take place Saturday from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.
at the Columbus Boychoir School, Rosedale Road. It's the well-known carnival game in which a ball that hits its target releases a spring which in turn precipitates the central character of the plot into a pond of water.

Those who have accepted invitations to serve in this capacity include Harland F. Baker, Edmund D. Cook, George J. Cooke, Lewis B. Cuyler, George H. Gallup, Jr., Robert T. Catchell, Donald W. Gritlin, Reeves Hicks, A. Vernon Shaanon and Herbert C. Sturhahn. Proceeds from this and all other events of the action-packed program will benefit the Princeton Hospital.

The midway will offer a variety of games, including balloon-busting (with darts), shooting galleries and one contest billed as "hoop-de-dee." A score of civic and community organizations will operate booths at which a wide assortment of unusual articles will be offered. Jazz-lovers are promised a selection of old records that rank as collectors' items.

Added entries in the talent show include Virginia Goeke of St. Paul's School, who will tap dance, and Merrill Zissman of Valley Road, a trumpet soloist. This event and the personality contest will center about the large handstand. Music for dancing will also be provided from that site.

Mrs. G. W. Estey will read palms and Mrs. Sterling Anders will analyze hand-writing, while on-the-spot sketches of those at the fete will be made by artists Rex Goreleigh and Iluseyn Halil. Auctions will be held throughout the day, including sale of a John Rogers watercolor from among those exhibited earlier this spring at The Little Gallery.

A pre-fete activity under way this week was attracting considerable attention at the corner of Nassau and Witherspoon Streets, where the pail-filled jug was on display for estimates of its contents. For $1 per guess, entrants could write down the number of pills they felt the jug held and stood to win a $1,000 merchandise bond donated by L. Bamberger & Co.

Free bus service will be provided from the entrance to Palmer Square, at hourly intervals, starting at 11 and continuing until 6. Return trips will be made at regular intervals until 9 p.m.

The admission charge will be 50 cents for adults, with no charge for children under 12. The fete committee has announced that the ticket will not only provide day-long parking, but will also be good for all entertainment at the bandstand.

Still Homeless. Rejection of the application for permission to purchase the Colpitts residence at 75 Cleveland Lane was voted at last week's meeting of the Zoning Board.

Trustees of the Chapin School had sought an exemption to zoning restrictions, which would allow them to acquire the dwelling and operate it as a school. It was built over a quarter-century ago by the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Colpitts.

The school had advertised earlier this year for a building in which it may continue to operate next fall. Its present location, 11 Mercer Street, will not be available after it closes this month.

No announcement has been made as to the school's plans to continue, following its inability to acquire the Colpitts residence. The request was denied in view of a petition against the exemption, signed by 13 of the 15 adjacent property owners, and the board's belief that such a move might alter the character of the residential neighborhood.

McLean Succeeds Erdman. Dr. Joseph E. McLean, Associate Professor of Politics at Princeton University, was named by Governor Meyner this week to succeed Dr. Charles R. Erdman, Jr. as State Commissioner of Conservation and Economic Development. Dr. Erdman, an appointee of former Governor Driscoll, had also previously taught political science at the University.

Dr. McLean, who has had wide experience in government management and fiscal affairs, will be charged with many aspects of state planning as well as conservation of its water supply. Recreation, fish and game, state parks and numerous other conservation projects will also come under his jurisdiction.

A graduate of Lafayette College and a veteran of three years' service with the Navy during the war, Dr. McLean is 38 years old. He has been a member of the University faculty since 1946, after first coming here to enroll in the war-time Naval Training School. Three years ago, he was director of the Central Jersey District of the Office of Price Stabilization.

The post to which he has been named has cabinet status and pays $18,000 a year. Dr. McLean lives on Random Road with his wife and their two sons.

Sweet Box. A convenient place to pick up a popsicle or a Dixie Cup on a hot afternoon is the new Candy Box, 52 Nassau. Formerly the Nassau Candy Store, the Candy Box is now open under new management. Helen Saller, proprietor of the Joan Shop, is the new owner.

She will feature, besides the quick lick on a stick, the delicate confections as ice-cream party molds that you order ahead of time. She will also have top-quality candies by the pound and an assortment of nickel and dime candy-bars.

The Candy Box has a new coat of paint and an open door, so stop by when your sweet tooth begins to bite.

A Boy and a Ball. There's something ominous about the approaching end of school with its prospect of active boys with no place to let off steam. To provide an outlet for these energetic scholars, on sabbatical, Richard E. Vaughan of the University Coaching Staff is offering a summer school in baseball and tennis.

The schedule is flexible, depending on the boy. At the moment, Mr. Vaughan plans to offer tennis beginning June 14 with baseball added on June 21, and both proceeding to August 13. A boy may sign up on a daily or alternate days. If it suits the family's vacation plans, he may come during June, then again in August.

Classes will use the indoor and outdoor facilities of Princeton Country Day. Mornings (9:30 to noon) will be devoted to tennis instruction and group play. Afternoon will run from 1 P.M. to 4 P.M. with baseball instruction and group play. Boys are asked to bring their own lunches and there is the possibility of a barbecue. One feature of this program is a robot that can catch 600 balls an hour for either indoor or outdoor practice. (Who catches the 600 balls each hour and gives the robot a refill, Mr. Vaughan does not say. Possibly another robot.)

On a daily basis, fees are $3 for mornings only, $4 for afternoons only. All day, five days a week, is $20 a week. Afternoon only, five days a week, is $16. Mornings only, five days a week, is $12.

To make arrangements, you may write to Mr. Vaughan in care of Dillon Gymnasium, call him at the University, 2300, Extension 498, or at his home, 1801.

Summer Muster. You may sun on the beach, ride a bike, graduate from school, sleep late, primp oraudacious in the versatile collection of summer clothes at the Joan Shop, 63 Palmer Street.

If the first week in June finds you—or your daughter—ready for a diploma, look at the white velvet dress with its softly folded waist and gentle skirt. The underside of the dress is finished in cotton that's designed to be worn on its own as a sundress. Tie a brilliant sash around it and you have a party dress for all summer.

Culottes. For those who date on them, are yachting blues trimmed with white. Or buy them in white, grey, or pink. Girls who would rather berank about not wearing a skirt, may look at Bermudas in pale pink cord, finely striped or "Jamaicas" (a short name for the first two or three inches north of Bermuda). These are powder blue, aqua, coral, red, green and blue plaid.

Tops are anything. Lots of pretty blouses, some with wide Peter Pan necks. We looked twice at a white dacron with wide U-neck and bodice completely filled with ruffles that follow the line of the U. A more conventional white blouse at $5.95 has wide bands of embroidery up each side of the front closing and continuing into a stand-up collar. Embroidery again on the cap-sleeve bands.

Another dressed-up blouse is all white lace in a shirt-waist design. For $10.95.

Sheer yellow (or blue) cotton has a plastic dog-collar and buckle. A pink sleeveless sheer blouse has pink flowers on its small white collar.

If you want two dresses in one, try on the black whose wide skirt has a deep front slash that reveals a black and white polka dot petticoat. For a change, wear the yoked petticoat over the dress. The same polka dot fabric appears in the lining of the sun top. Ensemble is $14.95.

Lots of two-piece dresses this summer have sun tops and contrasting skirts. A can-can sundress has a white background with brightly colored dancers sporting themselves on its surface. Black ball fringe decorates a jacket with stand-up collar. It costs $17.95.

Cotton plisse gowns or pajamas guarantee you a comfortable night. These have a bit of lace and the gowns come in regular or shorty length for $3.98. A panty matches, and there are slips too in this fine combined cotton plisse. Look at a giddy pair of short pajamas in white plisse with pinwheels down the front of the shirt and around the leg band.

A bathing suit might have little-boy shorts and a print top (vegetables and fruits) all in one piece in olive green or cocoa. Price is $8.95 and for the same price, a matching coat of terry and the print. Total $15.90. For those who are dedicated to the tank-type suit, The Joan Shop has a collection of several at $10.95 or thereabouts.

Big Thirst. If you have one, consider the purchase of a Thermos cocktail shaker at The Wine and Game Shop, 6 Nassau. This is a real, trade-mark Thermos, built to hold 26 ounces of—well, it could hold lemonade or baby's formula, but that's not quite what Wine and Game has in mind.

There are two tops to this shaker. One has a built-in strainer for drinks that need one. The other, a "muddler", has a wide oval hole for spoon and a spout to pour from. The vacuum filler is strong but there are refills in case your hand slips. The outside is ammonized aluminum, whatever that is, and the price is $14.95.

We were curious about a small bottle on the Wine and Game counter that looked like a baby beer bottle. Turned out to be Country Club Malt Liquor, a drink that is new to this part of the world although it is popular in the south and far west.

It resembles beer in taste, but its alcoholic content is 14%, against 3.6% for beer. The small bottle holds 8 ounces and so does the can, for 18c.

Storage of wines and liquors frequently presents a problem to people whose living quarters aren't much bigger than a bar, anyhow. As a solution, Wine and Game offers a bottle holder made of sheet metal in a honeycomb design, one bottle to a cell. The holder stands about two feet high. It could go on top of a cupboard, a shelf or on the floor. Its capacity is 28 bottles and its price is $15.95.

To celebrate a wedding or an anniversary buy a Jereboam of New York State's Gold Seal Champagne. This convivial giant holds 104 ounces for $16.95, and what a pop that cork will make!

Daddy, It's Warm Outside. Keeping one's comfort along with one's dignity seems to be the great male problem in the summer time. Hathaway shirts provide one answer to this dilemma with their Aer-Tex shirts, now at The English Shop, 33 Palmer Square West.

These shirts have been worn, so they say, by Britishers in the tropics for many years. They say, too, that a man can wear one of these shirts and get a tan right through the fine mesh without burning. Well . . .

In any case, the Aer-Tex is a sports shirt in the quiet manner, navy and white or red and white windowpane checks or Tattersall. For dress, we suggest a white batiste madras shirt, either button down or round collar and thin as a breeze. Comes in stripes, too.

For a man who likes gingham in the summer, here's an imported shirt in small checks of blue, brown or red. And in the tie rack for summer, there are ties made of silk, madras and challis, all handsome and very English.

With these, he'll want a 7-oz. tropical worsted suit in charcoal brown (a very deep brown) or charcoal grey. And what could be jauntier than a straw jockey cap?

The answer to that is, a pair of red plaid walking shorts. Every tartan in the book for these Bermuda-length shorts and swim trunks come in the same plaids.

Warm summer nights call for batiste pajamas, short or regular, in cool shades of light grey with stronger color in the piping. Regulation pajama neck without a collar.

In the underwear department, we found French shorts with picture postcards printed on the ivory-colored background. Provocative captions like "Oops—wrong room!" "Having wonderful time" or "Art for Art's Sake" enliven the scene. The shorts are boxer style, the accent unmistakably Parisian.

Stohlman to Retire. W. Frederick Stohlman, associate professor of the Department of Art and Archaeology at Princeton, will retire on July 1 after having been a member of the University faculty since 1920.

Professor Stohlman is associate editor of Princeton's "Index of Christian Art" and has served as clerk of the University faculty. He was graduated from Princeton in 1909 and received his M.A. in 1917 and his M.F.A. in 1924.

In World War I he served as a first lieutenant and during World War II he served with the Office of War Information in Italy. Professor Stohlman's principal publication is "Catalogo del Museo Sacro Vaticano".

Sale Raises $2,436. The spring Rummage Sale sponsored by the Hospital Aid Committee raised the sum of $2,436 for the hospital, according to an announcement from Mrs. Samuel D. Atkins, committee president.

Mrs. Atkins on behalf of the committee expressed appreciation for the cooperation of customers at the sale despite inadequate selling space. Thanks were extended to Engine Company No. 3 for the use of its firehouse; Clayton's, Elsie Goupil, Leigh's, Marsh's Drug Store, Millholland and Olsen, as well as to those who donated unidentified merchandise.

WSCS Picnic Set. The final meeting of the year of the WSCS of the Methodist Church will be a picnic this Thursday at 6 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Max Mesner of Kingston Road.

The picnic will be followed by a business meeting and the annual Pledge Service. Mrs. George Bowers, Mrs. Ray Kell and Miss Shirley Johnson will preside, while Mrs. Thomas R. Webb will lead the devotional service.

Miscellany. The Montgomery Township Committee reports that it issued the permit for the swimming pool now being built near Rocky Hill on April 28, not during the week of May 9 as indicated here a fortnight ago. The permit was issued six days after the request had been received by Norton C. Jefferson, building inspector for the municipality. The pool, to be operated by the River Road Recreation Association, is scheduled for an early summer opening.

The Bicycle Olympics scheduled for Saturday by the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held in the summer. Action was taken because the date conflicted with the Hospital Fete and the opening of the Shopping Center.

The Wellesley Club of Central New Jersey will meet at 5:30 next Wednesday for a picnic supper. It will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Palmer, 200 Prospect Avenue.

The First Day School, next to the Stony Brook Meeting House on the Quaker Road, will be open for inspection Sunday from 4 to 6 o'clock. Bruce French, chairman of the building committee, will be present to answer questions.

Three members of the Princeton First Aid Unit attended the meeting of the New Jersey First Aid Council last week in Irvington. They were Vincent Gallagher, Albert Toto and Leonard F. Kraus.

The piano pupils of Miss Ruth McLain will give a recital Sunday night at 8 in the music room of Miss Fine's School. The public is invited to attend.

Obituaries

Mrs. Mary H. Cortelyou. 64, of 79 Wheatsheaf Lane died May 28 in Princeton Hospital after a long illness. She is survived by her husband, Gerrit V. D. Cortelyou; a son, Gerrit H. Cortelyou, also of Princeton; two sisters, Miss Helen E. Hoagland of Princeton and Mrs. Henry Atkinson of Wheaton, Ill.; and three brothers, Charles H. Hoagland of Highland Park; Raymond S. Hoagland of Griggstown; and Alvin J. Hoagland of Trenton.

The service at the Mather Funeral Home was followed by interment in Rocky Hill Cemetery.

Carmen Navarro. 61, of Little Rocky Hill, died June 1. A laborer, Mr. Navarro was a native of Italy. His only near survivor is his wife, Jessie Navarro. The service will be held Friday at 2 at the Harding Funeral Home, 239 Livingston Avenue, New Brunswick.

ACROSS THE COUNTER

Not long ago, Mr. Jones came to our office. "I'd like to talk about fire insurance. I just bought an older commercial building. Paid $100,000 for it, ground and all. How much insurance do I need?"

"Mr. Jones, that depends on whether you want your money back or your building back."

"What do you mean?" he asked.

"If you only want your money back, we can deduct the cost of the land and other non-combustible items from your cost and insure for that amount, say $75,000. But, if you want your building replaced, it might take twice as much, or $150,000, since the part that has depreciated would have to be rebuilt too."

Mr. Jones nodded. "I'd want the building back," he said, "if the insurance isn't prohibitive."

"It won't be," I said, "since we can use a favorable rate when you insure it 100%. We should arrange for a competent appraisal. This will cost you money, but it will be worth it."

"Go ahead," Mr. Jones said.

"Okay," I replied. "We'll put a binder on the building until the appraisal is completed. Then we'll know exactly how much insurance you need."

May we discuss INSURANCE with YOU too?

COMING TO NEW HOPE: Ilka Chase will appear in "The Cocktail Party" at the Bucks County Playhouse from Monday through June 19.

News of the Theatres

BUCKS COUNTY PLAYHOUSE

While "The Moon Is Blue" continues through Saturday night at the Bucks County Playhouse as the first offering of the local summer theatre season, considerable interest has already been expressed in the next attraction at the New Hope barn, T.S. Eliot's "The Cocktail Party."

A remarkable cast has been assembled for the two-week run of the comedy hit which opens on Monday and continues through Saturday, June 19. The group includes Ilka Chase, Uta Hagen, Edna Best, Murray Matheson, Philip Bourneuf, Richard Waring and Jerome Cowan.

Every member of the cast was represented in at least one Broadway production or film during the past year, and they are considered to be one of the most outstanding groups ever assembled for a summer theatre production. The comedy is under the direction of Michael Ellis.

The new management of the Bucks Playhouse got themselves off to a sharp, fast start with "The Moon Is Blue," the slick little comedy by F. Hugh Herbert which has proved immensely popular during its brief stage and screen history.

The able Jerome Cowan took on the role of the charming playboy (of 45 years) with ease and fluency, while Biff McGuire was properly irritating and likeable as the young architect. The father of the pursued and pursuing young lady in question was played by T. J. Halligan, who failed (on Monday) to connect squarely with his "punch line," but a gory makeup job on Mr. McGuire's left eye more than made up for this.

Attractive Judith Hunter as Patty O'Neil carried the evening in style, however. She elected to play her role in the "cute" vein, and the result was consistent, animated, refreshing, and a source of a great part of the evening's amusement.

The fast-paced proceedings were backed by a handsomely-proportioned set, the barn's best according to this corner's recent recollections. Then there was pleasantly audible background music, T-shirted female stagehands with teenage bounce, flowers for the ladies and other filips to decorate the evening.

The picturesque Playhouse itself was refurbished and new air-conditioning in action. Add to all this some reductions in ticket prices and the brand new Playhouse Inn next door to the theatre (opening shortly), and it looks as if producer Michael Ellis and his associates have set out some attractive bait to lure Princetonians over to Bucks County.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS

With their rehearsals about to get under way for "Bell, Book and Candle" (running June 16-19 in Murray Theatre), the Community Players last week charted a course for the 1954-55 season which should do much to re-establish the organization in a firm position in the theatrical life of the community.

The major step taken at the annual meeting was the creation of a new "associate membership". In effect, the new type of membership will mean that the Players will have an active group putting on shows and a supporting group.

The plan of subscription membership to provide a financial and audience base has been employed in a number of community theatre groups throughout New Jersey. A husband-and-wife associate membership will cost $15 and single memberships $10.

The players have already decided on a season for next year, opening with the highly-regarded verse play by Dylan Thomas, "Under the Milk Wood." The winter production will be "The Madwoman of Chaillot", the delightful comedy by Jean Giraudoux.

The outdoor version of "The Taming of the Shrew", (postponed from this year) has been chosen as the spring offering. A Giotto Frescoes production is also likely, but the organization may decide to mount a production of the Easter frescoes and alternate them with the Christmas scenes as a yearly fixture.

Stuart Duncan was re-elected as president of the Players. Other officers for the coming year will be Mrs. Herbert McAneny and Henry Ross, vice-presidents; John Drury, treasurer; Miss Alice Braverman, secretary, and Lorin Zissman, head of production.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Executive Suite (Sun. - Sat.) spends an absorbing hour before it reaches the destined happy ending. It's a highly-polished tale of a hard-tough struggle for control of a big business, fought around the directors' table, in offices, homes and bedrooms. The story is a big one, with a variety of subplots, including several romances, but the movie-makers have held it together.

MGM assembled "the big cast" for this one. The combatants include William Holden, June Allyson, Barbara Stanwyck, Frederic March, Walter Pidgeon, Paul Douglas, Louis Calhern, Dean Jagger, Nina Foch and others. The picture is completing a week.

French Line (Sun.-Tues.) elaborates on the various assets of Jane Russell, Mary McCarty and other young ladies which enable them to sustain the lowest of low necklines. The subject in question is pursued eagerly with a 3-D Technicolor camera. Aside from this, the picture includes a poor man's "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" and the "poor little rich girl" theme. Also Gilbert Roland, Arthur Hunnicutt.

Dial M for Murder (Wed.-Sat.) combines the highly successful stage melodrama, a fine cast (including Ray Milland, Grace Kelly and Robert Cummings), and inevitably, the master suspense touch of Alfred Hitchcock. Said suspense is handsomely built in two parts, as Milland first tries to have Miss Kelly murdered, and then tries to pin a murder rap on her. In color.

THE GARDEN

Phantom of the Rue Morgue (Thurs.-Sat.) finds Karl Malden as a mad zoologist, directing a rather violent gargantuan ape in a grisly series of horrible murders of assorted young ladies. Actually what he really wants is Patricia Medina. Vaguely related to Poe's "Murders in the Rue Morgue," the film presents a series of brutal demises in graphic color photography. It turns out that both Malden and the ape are Freudian case studies.

The Fighting Pimpernel (Mon.-Wed.) stars David Niven in a British film. Not reviewed at press time. Playing with it is "Can-Can", a short color feature of the life of the artist Henri Toulouse-Lautrec, told through the medium of his paintings.

Beachhead (Thurs.-Sat.) tries to combine two of the most popular World War II-Marines in the South Pacific plots: the "lourman secret mission in enemy islands" and the "who's in love with the daughter of the French planter?". Those participating in the activities are chiefly Tony Curtis, Frank Lovejoy and Mary Murphy. Color.

LAMBERTVILLE MUSIC CIRCUS

The opening of "The Chocolate Soldier" this Friday evening will mark the beginning of the most ambitious schedule for the Music Circus in Lambertville since the arena attraction was launched in 1949. Eleven shows will go on the boards during the 15-week season.

The cast for the Straus operetta is headed by Janet Medlin as Nadina and Jack Washburn as Lt. Bumerli. Other featured performers include Muriel O'Malley, Paul Reed, Don Clarke, Marianne Peterson and Michael Dermoyan.

The Music Circus productions will again be directed by Robert Jarvis. Oscar Kosarin is returning as musical director after a year's absence, and the choreography will be done by Jerry Ross this season. The exterior of the colorful tent has been redecorated, and inside the productions will have a new lighting system and an echo chamber to improve sound effects.

The schedule for the season: June 4-13, "The Chocolate Soldier"; June 15-20, "Brigadoon"; June 22-July 4, "Carousel"; July 6-11, "The Red Mill"; July 13-25, "Finian's Rainbow"; July 27-August 1, "Waltz Down the Aisle"; August 3-8, "My Maryland"; August 10-22, "The Boys from Syracuse"; August 24-29, "The Countess Maritza"; August 31-September 5, "Wish You Were Here", and September 7-26, "Oklahoma!"

Victory Sought Over the Elis. Scheduled to meet Yale a month ago, Princeton's baseball team was held over, causing it to be on the road place with a victory over the Elis. It rained all day Saturday, and other games were played in the week that followed. Princeton, the Eastern football champion last season with a 1-3 mark, completely reversed its field and finished with an 8-1 record. That also finished the season.

So this Friday afternoon at 4 on University Field Princeton and Yale will try it again — this time with the second place at stake. A victory will be the difference that gives the Tigers a respectable 6-2 mark for the season and undisputed claim to runner-up honors.

Navy's 8-4 victory over Army at Annapolis last Saturday, recorded after the cadets had taken a 2-0 first-inning lead and driven the middies into John May's arms from the home plate, has once more caused the team to wrap up their first title since entering the league in 1947.

A victory for the Tigers on Friday will give Princeton the four-for-four of becoming the first team to repeat since the Orange and Black won the championship in 1941 and kept it the following year. However, second place would be Princeton's. The unmatchable record of finishing in first division each year save one since 1949. The Tigers won the title that year, in 1951 and 1953, tying with Army in 1950.

Blue Hopewell, Tee Yale had its own plans for winning the league race this season but somehow never got started. The Elis started with a 16-0 record, but first game but promptly lost to Penn and later to Army and Navy. They have beaten Columbia, Dartmouth and Harvard in addition to Cornell, and had a game with Brown rained out three times.

Bob Davis will probably be the Els' choice with Bill Ellis or Ken McKenzie possible selections. Davis is a former league game winner. The Tigers lost their first defeat in the play-off game on June 16 giving Eddie Donovan's team operates the championship.

Joe Castle will work for the Tigers, his 2-0 triumph over Rutgers last Saturday showing again that he is hard to beat when he gets good support afield. The teams will go to New Haven for a return contest Saturday if Fri-

Fine Season

Princeton High School's tennis team, the victor in its first nine matches, was scheduled to complete its season Wednesday afternoon with a match against the Princeton Cathartes. The Little Tigers held an 8-1 decision over this opponent from a match earlier in the season.

Coached by Dick Borger, the PHS team has beaten Princeton, Park, Lower Merion and Red Bank Catholic twice each and Freehold and Red Bank High once each to win the Central Jersey title. Other matches with Franklin and Red Bank High were rained out.

Bob Thomas and John Chandler have been the top singles players, and have frequently paired up as a successful doubles team. Bill Blue and White has also been represented by Frank Kneisel, Hugh Dingle and John Harbison.

day's game is not postponed by weather. If it is, they will play here Saturday and a non-league affair will be staged in New Haven next Thursday. Joe Castle is set for next Saturday, following the gala parade into University Field. A year ago, it was rained out for the first time in the team's history. Castle, senior, will probably get the call in this one, too, with junior Dick Emery slated to oppose the Els at New Haven. The team is still bottom of the scoring in this area and the coach has admitted that he pulled him out of so many tight situations last spring while he was compiling his fine 9-2 record.

Fielding Sparkles Castle's whitewash of Rutgers was his second victory in a row over the Scarlet, since he trimmed the Raritan by a 3-0 count in April, 1953. He gave up only four bows, two of them scratch, and only one visitor got an out in this game.

The other double plays from Dick Savage to Roy Flippin to Jim Griffin helped Castle in clear-cut fashion as did Gray's somersault catch of a potential extra-base blow with one above in the eighth. Gray got his glove on the ball as he dove for it and then came up with it in his bare hand, a sleight-of-hand trick that has Rutgers coach George Case taking to himself.

The former American Leaguer protested the call vociferously, but Umpires Tyson and Shulman ruled that Gray had come up on to the field. A ho-hum commentator had the cat-sat-the-camay smile on their faces, although this department felt Gray's catch was strictly legitimate.

An unearned run in the first got the Tigers away to a quick lead. Flippin led off in a batting order that saw him take over the top spot from Agnew, who played in favor of Griffin, who played first and hit seventh.

Roy worked Wally Alson, Rutgers sophomore, for a walk and his speed took him to second on a short passed ball. Gray banged a hit through the hole between third and short, Flippin scoring.

The Tigers' only other tally came in the second when Castle punched a two-out, two-base hit and single into left field. Flippin took a third strike to end the inning, the Tigers leaving a dozen runners stranded during the course of the game.

The victory ended their four-game losing streak, and gave them a 14-6 mark for the season. —Continued on Page 21

SPORTS IN PRINCETON

If they can take two of three from Yale, including the league affair, the season will rank as a success despite loss of the Eastern League title.

Weiss to Retire. Princeton High School's track team, again winner of the Group III Central Jersey championship, will defend its State title this Saturday at New Brunswick. The meet will mark more than the end of another fine season for the Little Tigers—it will bring to a close the extremely successful coaching career of the veteran Irwin Weiss. His 25th season will be his last, he has announced, with Win Niles, who has worked with him for many years, scheduled to succeed him. Gerald Croninger will assist Niles, with Dominic Ferrara in charge of the freshmen.

Weiss, long one of the top football officials in the east, began coaching track at Princeton High in 1929. Less than a decade later, he had won his first State Championship, but it was immediately after the war that the "golden era" began.

The Blue and White has rolled up 44 consecutive dual meet victories, most of them by overwhelming margins, in the past seven years. It has won every Mercer County Championship since that event was first held in 1948 and on Saturday in the Rutgers University stadium will be after its fourth straight State title.

The Central Jersey championship stayed in PHS hands last weekend at Asbury Park, the Blue and White running up 90 points to win for the eighth straight time. The total was more than double that of its nearest opponent, North Plainfield trailing with 41½. Long Branch, Manasquan, South River and Bound Brook followed.

Carl Brown, recovered from his illness, set records in winning both hurdles and also tied for first in the broad jump. Brown's marks were 20.2 in the 180-yard low hurdles and 15.2 in the 120-yard high hurdles, each performance bettering time set by Jim Varner of Princeton High two years ago.

Al Terry was a double victor, winning the sprints, while others who won included Doug Wengel, 880-yard run; Rover Rosner, shot put; Al Delnesso, javelin; and Al Taylor who tied in the broad jump. Wengel is heading for Princeton University.

Junior League to Form. Plans are now being made for the formation of a four-team junior baseball circuit as part of the Princeton Playgrounds committee summer recreation program. Charles Davis will again head the league in its eighth year of organization.

Boys 15 and under are eligible for the league. Those who played last year and are still eligible will remain on the same team. "Rookies" are asked to submit their names to Davis or Ralph Papa at the YMCA. A "draft" will take place early this month.

Last year's entrants in the junior circuit were Bamman's (the league champions), Bowers, Thorne's, and Hook and Ladder, all of whom have been invited to enter again. A trophy is awarded to the sponsor of the winning team and awards are presented to individual players.

Davis has issued a call for volunteers, either to manage a team or serve on the umpiring staff during the seven-week season starting late this month. Those interested should contact him at 1338-W.

Tennis Dates Set. The tennis tournaments sponsored by the Princeton Playgrounds Committee will start June 21, when the junior boys' and girls' singles will be held. Arrangements are being made by C. Edward Christian, summer recreation supervisor, who will again be in charge of the program.

Men's singles will begin July 7, women's singles July 12, men's doubles July 19 and mixed doubles July 28. All matches will be played on the Princeton University courts.

Entries for all tournaments are now being accepted at the YMCA (3630). They may also be made through any member of the tennis committee: Michael C. Kopliner, Dr. Paul R. Chesebro and A. Caryl Bigelow, Jr. Adults are asked to pay a 50c entry fee and provide three new balls.

Short Notes. Pete Bostwick of The Hun School took honors in Division I of the New Jersey Headmasters and Coaches Tennis Tournament at Lawrenceville last Saturday. He polished off Sam Schoonmaker, number one man for the Laurentians, 6-1, 6-1.

Princeton held five regional or national titles at the end of the 1953 spring season, winning sectional honors in golf, tennis and baseball, and national championships in lacrosse and 150-lb. crew.

"Uneasy lies the head that wears the crown" proved true, and the Tigers retained only their Metropolitan Intercollegiate title in golf. They shared the tennis championship with Yale and lost those in baseball and lacrosse to Navy and lightweight crew to M.I.T.

Dick Kazmaier, twice an All-American while playing tail back for Princeton's unbeaten football teams of 1950 and '51, will graduate from Harvard Business School this month and enter the Navy in August. Kaz, who worked with sports commentator Russ Hodges after the game-of-the-week football program last fall, was interviewed by Hodges on television before the Giant-Dodger game last Sunday.

Joe Castle was nominated this week for a place on the District II NCAA baseball team. He has a 7-3 record and has allowed only ten earned runs in 86 2/3 innings, giving him a fine mark of 1.04. Three of his seven victories have been shutouts.
